PFM Italia Consulting - Services - Software Factory

We give value, innovation and growth to your application development

PFM Italia Consulting provides to their clients its own Software Factory, that works on-site or in remote, depending on the customer's needs to develop application and technical software.

The development standards and project methodology are always established with the client.

The teams of the Software Factory are composed of a project leader with the functional and technical skills and with program developers with up-to-date technical skills of the required development environment.

Every team takes part in every project phase, precisely:
- Requirement analysis
- Solution design on application and technical level
- Development and test
- Integration test with existing neighbor applications
- Functional and technical documentation of the entire solution
- Training of the users on application and if required technical level
- Go-Live Support
- After Go-Live Support

The software development environments are the most common and recent ones that are found on the market:

- Client server platforms, Internet, ecc.
- Development tools: ABAP, ASP.NET, C#, Java, Netweaver XI, ecc.

The WEB development team is in charge of designing applications with solutions based on Open Source technology e Java programming.
